

Florida Memorial University Participates in 18th National Conference on Preventing

National Conference on Preventing Crime in the Black Community

Standing to attention while the national anthem was being played at the National Conference on Preventing Crime in the Black Community in Atlanta Georgia, are Mr. T. Baker, Atlanta's Attorney General, Mr. Bob Butterworth, Dean, St. Thomas University Law School and former Attorney General for Florida, and Florida Memorial University's Robert B. Ingram, Ph.D., Assistant to the President for Urban Affairs.

Florida's Attorney General, Charlie Crist, left and Florida Memorial University's Robert B. Ingram, Ph.D. greet each other warmly with a handshake at the National Conference for Preventing Crime in the Black Community in Atlanta, Georgia.

Florida Memorial's University's Robert B. Ingram, Ph.D., presides over a plenary session at the 18th National Conference on Preventing Crime in the Black Community in Atlanta, Georgia. The conference was attended by 2,100 participants from 30 U.S. states, Canada and the Virgin Islands.

Posing for the cameras at the National Conference on Preventing Crime in the Black Community in Atlanta, Georgia, are from right, Atlanta's Attorney General, T. Baker, Florida Memorial University's Robert B. Ingram, Ph.D. and Bob Butterworth, former Attorney General of Florida and Dean of the Law School at St. Thomas University.